An original part for classic Hi-Capa slides

The ARCTURUS Hi-Capa Blowback Housing is designed to replace the original assembly installed on Tactical Vanguard non-Optics Ready slides. It allows you to restore the internal mechanism of the slide while maintaining the manufacturer's intended characteristics.

A robust and precise construction

The body of the assembly combines die-cast zamak with CNC-machined aluminum components. This combination offers a good balance between mechanical strength, assembly precision, and durability, ensuring smooth operation of the gas blowback system.

Vanguard non-ORS specific compatibility

This version is exclusively for Tactical Vanguard slides that are not Optics Ready . It does not replace the Blowback Housings developed for ORS (Optics Ready Slide) models, which have a specific internal design.

Ideal for maintaining your replica

Replacing a worn blowback housing helps maintain the proper functioning of the bolt cycle and the overall reliability of the replica. Using a genuine ARCTURUS part ensures optimal compatibility with the platform's original components.

FAQ

Which replicas is this Blowback Housing compatible with?

It is compatible with ARCTURUS Tactical Vanguard Hi-Capa non Optics Ready bolts.

Is it compatible with ORS Optics Ready bolts?

No. This version is intended only for Tactical Vanguard bolt carriers that are not Optics Ready. ORS models use a specific Blowback Housing.

What materials make up this set?

The Blowback Housing is made of die-cast zamak with CNC aluminum components to ensure robustness, precision and reliability.
