The reference for big African hunting

The Sologne Africa in .375 H&H caliber, equipped with the GPA Solid warhead, is distinguished by its programmed fragmentation. Upon impact, the compression of the fluid in the central channel causes mushrooming tripling the diameter of the projectile, followed by the controlled separation of the petals.

These petals, stopped in the animal's body, generate significant internal lesions and promote massive hemorrhage, while the residual nucleus continues its trajectory to ensure an efficient exit. This mechanism leads to a rapid drop in blood pressure and cardio-respiratory arrest of the game.

Made from lead-free copper alloy, the GPA is a non-toxic, environmentally friendly bullet, and a favorite with many experienced guides and hunters.
