An attractant developed for wild boar

Developed in Slovenia by Marko Gracner after more than two years of research, Black Fire Original releases a powerful scent specifically designed to stimulate the highly developed sense of smell of wild boar. Adopted by thousands of hunters across Europe, it creates lasting points of attraction in hunting areas.

Long-term diffusion

Its liquid formulation penetrates the wood fibers and gradually releases its fragrant compounds. Even after several days of exposure to the elements, the scent remains perceptible and continues to attract animals to the treated trees.

Simple and precise application

Pour the product directly onto a tree trunk, ideally a dead tree or a tree used as a scrubber, from about 1.5 meters above the ground . Its liquid texture facilitates penetration into the bark and ensures even diffusion of the scent.

Promotes the use of posts

In addition to wallows , game trails , or feeding areas , Black Fire Original helps to keep wild boar in the area. The animals regularly return to the treated trees, which facilitates observation and makes it easier to monitor their presence.

Three packaging options to suit all needs

The product is offered in several packaging options to meet the needs of individual hunters as well as hunting clubs and retailers:

- Case of 6 bottles
- Pack of 5 cartons of 6 bottles (30 bottles)
- Pack of 10 cartons of 6 bottles (60 bottles)
