The ideal rifle for competitive target shooting.

Case-hardened lock plate, adjustable double-phase trigger, steel ramrod.

The micrometric sight allows for elevation and windage adjustments and can slide along the barrel to correct the distance to the shooter's eye. A small pendulum allows for control of the weapon's inclination relative to the target.

The walnut stock terminates in a steel buttplate with a hook. The steel trigger guard is anatomically shaped with finger grooves. The grip pommel also serves as a palm rest.
