For western shooting enthusiasts, Henry presents a lever action rifle in 22LR caliber for more economical recreational shooting.

Faithful to its heritage, this underguard lever rifle uses the original Henry system with an external hammer that the breech cocks, as well as a tubular magazine. The latter can hold up to 9 shots and is reloaded from the front thanks to an opening in the tube. Once inserted, the brass pusher, containing the feed spring, locks the assembly.

Chambered for shooting the widely used .22 LR, this underguard lever rifle can also fire .22 Long and .22 Short. This allows you to enjoy very pleasant subsonic performance without requiring the use of a silencer.

An iconic .22 rifle for recreational shooting and small game

Designed for sport shooting enthusiasts, this rifle offers a smooth and enjoyable shooting experience . Its quick-release lever system, genuine American walnut stock, and fine workmanship appeal to both collectors and casual shooters.

- Twist: 1:16 for good stabilization of light projectiles
- Optical mounting: 3/8" groove compatible with standard clamps
- Stock length: 35.5 cm ideal for adults and young shooters
- Ejection: Lateral for unobstructed optic mounting

Ideal for target shooting sessions or pest control, it also allows immersion in the world of Western shooting, while maintaining real effectiveness in the field.
