A rifle designed for hunting from a blind and for regulating game.

Ideal for discerning hunters, this bolt-action rifle offers a balanced combination of ballistic accuracy and handling . The .222 Rem caliber is perfectly suited for precision shooting at small game or pests. Its low muzzle velocity ensures excellent stability during firing.

M14x1 threaded floating barrel

At 56 cm , the free-floating barrel ensures excellent shot pattern consistency. The M14x1 thread allows for easy mounting of a suppressor or muzzle brake . A thread cover is also included to protect the muzzle during transport.

Integrated mechanical sights

The rifle is equipped with an adjustable rear sight and a dovetail-mounted front sight , a plus for traditional hunters or when using it without optics. Mounting a scope is, of course, still possible thanks to the scope base on the receiver.

3-lug fluid slide

The three-lug bolt ensures a quick and solid lock, typical of modern bolt-action rifles. The action is smooth and quiet, a major advantage when stalking or from a blind.

Synthetic stock imitating wood

The oiled wood finish is particularly refined, while retaining the advantages of a synthetic material : resistance to humidity, impacts, and temperature variations. The rubber base provides good cushioning and significant shooting comfort.
