A configuration adapted for rifle shooting

The Ruger American Rimfire is a bolt-action rifle chambered in .22 LR designed for intuitive handling and regular use at the range. Its two interchangeable stock modules allow the configuration to be adapted to the shooter's physique and habits.

Free-floating barrel made of cold-forged steel

The cold-forged steel free-floating barrel features a 1:16" twist rate, suitable for the .22 LR caliber. Its 1/2"-28 threading allows the use of a compatible suppressor, including the Silent-SR® model.

BX-1 10-round rotary magazine

The patented BX-1 rotary magazine offers a 10-round capacity while remaining recessed within the rifle. Its generously sized release button facilitates operation, even with thin gloves.

Adjustable trigger and optics mount

The Ruger Marksman trigger allows for adjustable trigger pull weight to suit the shooter's preferences. The receiver is drilled and tapped to accept Weaver-style rails, while the included Stoeger 3-9x40 scope provides a complete setup right out of the box.

Included equipment

The rifle comes with a Stoeger 3-9x40 scope and a cable lock. This package is a practical solution for starting or expanding your .22 LR rifle shooting equipment.
