Established support for reloading press

The new Lee Bench Plate press base, whose patented design, allows you to assemble and disassemble your presses in seconds. It's so sturdy that you can reload up to 50 BMG, then quickly switch to another press for priming or other operations. The trapezoidal steel base provides perfect alignment and is integral with the press mounting bracket.

Includes 1 steel press base that fits all LEE presses. Mounting hardware included. The thick steel support mounts quickly and securely to any workbench or table. The plate balances the load, even on light supports.
