This CO2 powered blowback pistol is a complete 1:1 scale replica of the highly anticipated CZ P-10 C. What makes the P-10 C truly special and sets it above other similar pistols on the market is its performance. It provides unmatched consistency between shots and between magazines. On top of that, this gun is wonderfully fuel efficient, capable of easily fueling three entire magazines with a single CO2 capsule. Its Blowback feature provides crisper, more satisfying feedback than even the most popular airsoft guns, with sharper recoil with every shot. And thanks to its durable design, the P-10 C has impeccable endurance, minimizing its wear rate, thereby minimizing the maintenance required. Additionally, it can fire ten to twelve full magazines before suffering major performance issues due to cold, unlike other guns which weaken quickly under much less stress. This is without a doubt a true airsofter gun, designed with their needs in mind.

Its ergonomic handle supports the shooter's grip, providing a comfortable grip and satisfying feel that fits your hands perfectly. In addition, it has safety controls under the chassis as well as a trip safety. Its small size not only makes it a wonderful compact weapon to carry discreetly into the CQB arena, but also makes it lighter and quicker to draw. It is also equipped with traditional metal sights. It features a sleek metal slide and its bottom frame is made of reinforced polymer, making it both lightweight and durable.

The P-10 C is an easily customizable pistol with a lower accessory rail that can be used to mount lasers, lights, or other accessories.

Its magazine holds a total of 22 6mm BB rounds that fire at an average speed of 1.05 joules (330 fps). Additionally, the hop up can easily be adjusted via the slide with no disassembly required, unlike more conventional internal hammer airsoft guns.

Inside the box, in addition to an amazing gun, also included are interchangeable backrests so the user can customize the grip to suit their individual preferences. These backstraps are available in small, medium and large.

The CZ P-10 C airsoft is much more than just an airsoft gun. It's the culmination of years of gun manufacturing expertise and a deep-rooted passion for airsoft that results in a truly exceptional gun, ready to take on all types of airsoft play.
