Compatibility with older Comfort models

This rubber foot for the Walkstool is designed for previous generations of Walkstool Comfort 18", 22", 26" and 30" , as well as Basic 20" and 24" . It allows you to extend the life of the seat without a complete replacement.

Optimal grip on various surfaces

The rubber section improves grip on hard, wet, or slightly uneven surfaces. It reduces slippage and enhances stability, whether for camping , hunting , or professional use.

Aluminum tube protection

The internal plastic end cap effectively protects the structure from wear and repeated impacts. A discreet but essential element for maintaining the tripod's original performance.

Simple and targeted replacement

Sold individually , it allows for precise replacement in case of wear. Installation is quick: remove the old nozzle and then insert the new one until fully adjusted.

FAQ

Is this model compatible with recent versions of Walkstool Comfort?

It is primarily intended for older Walkstool Comfort models. It is recommended to check the seat generation before ordering.

Why choose a rubber tip?

Rubber improves grip on hard or wet floors and reduces the risk of slipping, while protecting the seat structure.

Is the product sold in batches?

No, this Walkstool bit is sold individually so that you only replace the part you need.
