The Px-9 NIGHT STALKER is the optimized version of the PX9 DUTY.

Its openwork breech reduces the inertia of the slide and limits the raising of the barrel, thus facilitating the return to battery of the weapon.

It comes with 3 sets of grip backs and side plates to adapt the width of the pistol grip stock to the shooter's body shape.

Its removable magwell makes it easy to insert magazines and also ensures excellent grip on the edge of the weapon.

Its high GLOCK compatible sights allow for Co-Witness aiming when an RMR-type red dot is mounted.

Ergonomically, the PX-9 features grip grooves on the front and rear of the slide, making it easier to maneuver the weapon.

In terms of safety, the pistol has a bright red indicator light at the rear of the slide, both visual and tactile, to check whether the firing pin is cocked.

At the ejection window, the extractor also has a bright red part, which when it comes out allows you to check that a round is chambered.
