LYM238	Case Neck Dipper #7631360	Vente libre	32.00 € incl. tax

Effectively clean and lubricate case collars to extend their life and facilitate recalibration.

The Lyman Case Neck Dipper is an essential tool for reloaders who care about the performance and longevity of their cases. Designed to clean and lubricate the inside of necks of necked cases, it reduces friction during re-sizing, preventing premature stretching and wear of cases. This kit includes three brushes that fit calibers from .17 to .45, plus a dry mica lubricant for a clean, even application.

The Lyman Case Neck Dipper is designed to improve the efficiency and accuracy of the reloading process. By cleaning and lubricating the inside of necked case necks, this tool reduces friction caused by the expander button during re-sizing, preventing over-stretching and case wear.

The kit includes three different sized brushes, covering a caliber range from .17 to .45, ensuring wide compatibility for various types of ammunition. The included mica-based dry lubricant provides a clean application, avoiding potential powder contamination and ensuring optimum performance of reloaded ammunition.

The convenient storage case keeps brushes and lubricant organized, making them easy to access and use during reloading sessions. By incorporating the Lyman Case Neck Dipper into your reloading routine, you ensure meticulous preparation of your cases, contributing to consistent and reliable shooting performance.
