An express rifle designed for big game hunting

Designed for driven hunt enthusiasts, the Renato Baldi Express Premier Steel FX Wood combines the qualities sought after in the field: speed of action, balance, and robustness. Its over-and-under design offers excellent handling and a particularly natural feel during reflex shots on moving game.

One-piece steel tilt mechanism: robustness above all

The heart of this express rifle lies in its exceptionally robust , one-piece steel receiver . This design contributes to the gun's longevity while ensuring perfect overall rigidity. In practice, this robustness inspires immediate confidence during long hunting seasons.

60cm cannons and optimized convergence

The 60cm barrels were developed to offer an excellent balance between maneuverability and accuracy. Their optimized convergence ensures remarkable consistency over the distances typically encountered when hunting big game. This configuration promotes rapid target acquisition without sacrificing ballistic performance.

Rapid aiming in all circumstances

The fiber optic front sight and rear sight make target acquisition easier, even in wooded areas or low light. The pre-equipped rib for scope mounting also allows for the installation of a red dot sight or other optics, depending on the hunter's preference.

FX Wood: elegance and ease of use

The FX Wood stock with its oiled finish lends an authentic character to this double rifle. Its warm appearance highlights the natural wood grain while ensuring a comfortable grip. Beyond aesthetics, this finish helps protect the wood from the stresses encountered in the field.
