A set of tools suitable for large calibers

The .50 AE is an impressive caliber, used in weapons such as the Desert Eagle. This Lee 3-die die set is specifically designed to handle the length, diameter, and unique pressure of this unusual ammunition.

Tools included for a complete recharging cycle

The set includes:

- A full steel resizing die with an integrated decapping rod
- A powder expander/feeder that allows the neck to be widened and the charge to be poured in one operation.
- A bullet seater with depth adjustment for .50 caliber bullets

Accessories included to get you started right away

Each kit also contains a compatible shell holder for Lee presses, a manual powder measure , and a technical data sheet with loading information for various powders and bullets. An ideal set for reloaders seeking a reliable, high-pressure calibrated kit.

Reliability and safety

Thanks to its steel sizing and standard 7/8"x14 threads, this set fits all single-station and turret presses on the market. It ensures consistent concentricity and precise seating, two key elements for a high-recoil caliber like the .50 AE.

FAQ

Is this game made of carbide?

No, the game is made of steel. Therefore, lubrication of the cases is necessary before resizing.

Can it be used on a press from another brand?

Yes, all tools are threaded with a standard 7/8"x14 pitch and fit most single-station or turret presses on the market.

Is a crimping tool included?

No, the Factory Crimp Die is not included in this kit. It can be added separately.
