A parka designed to be seen... and to last

Whether on a hunting line or moving through thickets, visibility is paramount. The BROWNING Tracker Pro Air Parka features an approved Blaze Orange color, ensuring optimal visual signaling to other hunters. This color choice contributes to collective safety while complying with French hunting regulations.

Armortex reinforcements with Kevlar™

In sensitive areas - shoulders, elbows, forearms - Armortex fabric is enriched with Kevlar™ para-aramid fiber . This structure effectively protects against abrasion, branches, or thorns, while maintaining the overall lightness of the garment.

Multi-zone ventilation system

To prevent overheating during intense activity, this jacket features four ventilation zips (front and sides), complemented by a back vent under a storm flap. This design is intended to regulate temperature without compromising waterproofing.

Hood adapted to the cap

The hood is not only removable but also adjustable , with a visor designed to cover the cap. A real plus in positions exposed to wind or light rain.

Practicality in driven hunts

The two radio pockets with antenna ports allow quick access to communication, regardless of whether the weapon is carried on the chest or shoulder. The rear compartment houses a spacious game bag , while an ammunition pouch completes the equipment.

Stretch and water-repellent fabric

In addition to its durability, the parka is made from a stretch fabric with shape memory, guaranteeing excellent freedom of movement . It is also breathable , waterproof , and quick-drying to withstand all weather conditions.
