The 50-pack of STARLINE cases allows reloaders to experience American quality in an economical format. Perfect for load testing, supplemental shooting, or building up a gradual stockpile.

The smart choice for rifle reloading

This compact packaging offers the same reliability as the 250 box versions. Each case is carefully machined from reinforced brass to withstand the high pressures of modern rifle calibers.

100% USA Production

Manufactured in STARLINE's USA workshops, these cases exhibit remarkable dimensional consistency. They are perfectly suited to precision shooters, experienced reloaders, or demanding beginners.

FAQ

Are the cases identical to those in boxes of 250?

Yes, only the packaging is different. The blister pack of 50 contains the same cases as those sold in larger quantities.

Is this format suitable for frequent refills?

Absolutely. The blister pack simply allows for gradual acquisition or testing. The quality remains the same, even with intensive use.

Can you mix different calibers in one blister pack?

No, each blister pack contains only one caliber, as indicated on the label. To test multiple calibers, you will need one blister pack per caliber.
