A steampunk-style reimagined lever-action

The PEDERSOLI 86/71 Boarbuster Apocalypse certainly doesn't go unnoticed. Its steampunk aesthetic, combining Cerakote Copper finish and leather inserts, gives it a unique visual identity. Yet, it retains all the mechanical soul of the famous lever-action system inspired by the historical 1886/71 model.

The iconic power of the .45-70 Government

Chambered in .45-70 Government , this rifle retains the distinctive character of this historic caliber. When firing, one immediately appreciates the crisp feel and smooth operation of the lever-action mechanism - an authentic experience for large-caliber enthusiasts.

47cm barrel and optimized maneuverability

The 47 cm barrel offers an excellent compromise between compactness and stability. With an overall length of 97 cm, the rifle remains particularly maneuverable while maintaining a good grip at the range. The 6 grooves with a 1:18" twist rate ensure stabilization suitable for .45-70 cartridges.

Fixed muzzle brake and classification in category C

This version is equipped with a fixed muzzle brake , allowing it to maintain its Category C classification thanks to its regulation length. This configuration was designed to comply with French legislation while preserving the model's distinctive aesthetics.

M-LOK handguard and modern design

The M-LOK compatible polymer handguard allows for the addition of suitable accessories depending on the intended use. This modern touch intentionally contrasts with the weapon's vintage style, creating a unique and functional configuration.
