Polish manufacturing WBP

The WBP Jack is manufactured in Poland by Wytwornia Broni Jacek Popinski , a company renowned for its expertise in the production and development of 7.62x39 semi-automatic rifles. The assembly immediately inspires confidence with clean adjustments and smooth mechanics.

Stamped sheet metal casing

The machined receiver, made of stamped sheet metal, maintains the traditional AK style while minimizing the weapon's overall weight. Weighing in at just 3 kg, this version remains remarkably maneuverable during extended shooting sessions.

M-LOK handguard and modularity

The Magpul M-LOK handguard facilitates the installation of compatible accessories such as a light, hand rest, or additional sighting system. This configuration also improves thermal comfort and grip while firing.

Side rail for optics

This version features an AK side rail for mounting a compatible optic. This allows the use of a red dot sight, a low-power scope, or tactical optics suitable for sport shooting.

The 415mm barrel is equipped with an M14x1 L thread , compatible with various accessories adapted to the AK platform. This configuration respects the traditional architecture while allowing for greater customization possibilities.
