Denix decorative replica of a Colt Navy 1851 revolver

https://europarm.fr/en/produit-21652-Denix-decorative-replica-of-a-Colt-Navy-1851-revolver

SKU	Designation	French Law	Length (cm)	Weight (g)	MSRP
XP1040L	Navy 1851 Revolver	Vente libre	35	1568	106.00 € incl. tax

Reproduction of an American western Colt Navy 1851 percussion revolver.

Imitation of the Navy revolver from the Civil War, made of metal and wood, with a simulated loading and firing mechanism, and a rotating cylinder.

The Navy revolver, designed by Samuel Colt, is a .36 caliber percussion firearm with a six-shot cylinder. Its balance, accuracy, and reliability quickly made it one of the most popular firearms of the 19th century, both with the military and civilians.
During the American Civil War, both sides used it because of its effectiveness in combat. Its design allowed for a comfortable grip and relatively fast reloading for the time, making it an ideal weapon on the battlefield.
In the world of entertainment and fiction, the Colt Navy has appeared in numerous Western films. In The Outlaw Josey Wales (1976), Clint Eastwood uses it as his primary weapon in the role of Josey Wales. It also appears in Tombstone (1993), where Val Kilmer's character, Doc Holliday, uses it in several memorable duels. In Sergio Leone's iconic Dollars Trilogy, the legendary "Man with No Name," portrayed by Clint Eastwood, carries a modified Colt Navy, cementing its status as a mythical weapon of the Wild West.
It can also be found in video games, notably Red Dead Redemption 2, where players can relive the history of the Wild West with striking realism.
A must-have for collectors and fans of Western history!

Les prix de vente conseillés sont mentionnés à titre indicatif. Les armuriers sont libres de vendre au prix qu'ils souhaitent. Textes et photos non contractuels, sujet à modification.