Maximum discretion for hunting

With a claimed noise reduction of 35 to 36 dB , this enveloping sound moderator offers a significant advantage in the field. Even with supersonic ammunition, firing becomes noticeably quieter, improving auditory comfort and environmental awareness.

Wrap-around mounting: stability and balance

The 8 cm wraparound system covers part of the barrel. This specific design improves the overall balance of the weapon and reduces muzzle rock. In practice, this results in greater stability, which is particularly noticeable during rapid fire or when firing from a supported position.

Reduced recoil and improved shooting comfort

In addition to sound attenuation, the SL50 Wraparound reduces felt recoil . This gas absorption contributes to better weapon control and increased accuracy, especially when tracking targets.

Robust construction and simplified maintenance

Its aircraft-grade aluminum construction with anodizing ensures strength and durability. The one-piece, detachable design facilitates cleaning after use, an essential feature for regular outdoor use.

Compatibility and modularity

Compatible with various modules and threaded rings , this model adapts to different needs. The M14x100 thread is included, allowing for quick mounting. Note that this model is particularly suited to firearms without sights due to its wraparound diameter.

Additional features

- Claws: Cream-Lock nylon system
- Fixing: tightening + threading at the end of the barrel
- Use: hunting and sport shooting

FAQ

What is the difference compared to a standard model?

The wraparound design covers part of the barrel, which improves stability and allows for even greater noise reduction.

Is this moderator suitable for hunting?

Yes, it is designed to offer discretion, comfort and stability, essential elements for use in hunting conditions.

Can it be used with sights?

This model is more suited to weapons without sights, due to its enveloping diameter which can interfere with the line of sight.
