An impressive capacity for long games

The Lancer Tactical Drum AK 3500 Auto was designed for players looking to maximize their autonomy on the field. With its 3,500-round capacity, it significantly reduces reloading and allows players to stay focused on the action during extended scenarios.

Intelligent automatic winding technology

This magazine is equipped with an audible-sensing electric winding system. With each shot, the mechanism automatically adjusts the feed to maintain a consistent supply of BBs. This technology improves user comfort and reduces handling during gameplay.

Designed for AEG AK platforms

Compatible with most AK AEG replicas, this drum magazine is an excellent solution for players seeking increased ammunition capacity without needing multiple magazines. It integrates perfectly into support-oriented setups or milsim scenarios.

Robust construction made of nylon polymer

Made from reinforced nylon polymer, this model offers an excellent balance between strength and light weight. This design allows it to withstand the stresses of regular use while maintaining comfortable handling.

Ready for support missions

In situations where rate of fire is critical, this high-capacity magazine offers a significant advantage. Its large BB reserve ensures continuous firing while minimizing interruptions due to magazine changes.

- Capacity: 3,500 marbles
- Technology: Auto-winding sound detection
- Material: Reinforced nylon polymer
- Uses: Support, milsim, and long sessions
