Designed for precision configurations

BLS Precision BBs 0.45g White 1000 pcs are designed for users seeking a stable and repeatable trajectory. Thanks to their high weight, they retain more inertia in flight, promoting consistent shots at medium and long ranges. This is typically the type of BB chosen to fully utilize an optimized setup.

A high-end finish

Each BB benefits from a carefully polished surface to minimize irregularities that could affect its trajectory. This finish also contributes to smooth feeding through magazines and hop-up systems. On the field, this quality translates into greater consistency between shots.

Extremely low dimensional tolerance

With a diameter of 5.95 mm and a tolerance of only \pm 0.01 mm, these BBs meet the demands of even the most meticulous users. This dimensional consistency is particularly valued with precision rifles, where every detail influences the overall performance of the replica.

The expertise of the manufacturer BLS

Manufactured by the Taiwanese specialist BLS , these BBs are renowned for their consistent quality. The brand has established itself as one of the world's leading airsoft ammunition manufacturers thanks to rigorous production processes and excellent control of manufacturing tolerances.
