An original part for Optics Ready cylinder heads

The ORS ARCTURUS Blowback Housing is designed as a replacement part for Tactical Vanguard Optic Ready blowback systems. It allows you to restore a replica while maintaining the operating characteristics intended by the manufacturer.

A design combining two materials

The assembly combines a die-cast zamak body with CNC-machined aluminum components. This design offers a good compromise between robustness, machining precision, and reliability during the repeated cycles of a gas blowback replica.

Compatibility with Vanguard ORS platforms

Developed specifically for ARCTURUS Tactical Vanguard Optic Ready bolt carriers, this component integrates directly into the manufacturer's intended configurations. It provides a suitable solution for replacing a worn or damaged part without altering the original setup.

Ideal for maintaining a GBB replica

Replacing the Blowback Housing helps maintain the proper functioning of the cylinder head system. Using a genuine part helps preserve cycle consistency, mechanical reliability, and compatibility with other platform components.
