A traditional stand for displaying deer trophies

Each roe deer trophy evokes a special memory: a successful stalk, an encounter at a forest edge, or a defining moment of a hunting season. The Country 230 x 130 mm solid oak roe deer trophy plaque allows you to preserve these memories in an elegant and timeless wall display.

Its elongated silhouette, with its slightly curved upper section, sculpted shoulders, and pronounced lower point, echoes the classic design of deer trophy stands . This profile offers a pleasing visual balance and naturally complements the shape of the trophy.

Solid oak, a noble and authentic material

Prized for its strength and natural beauty, solid oak is an ideal material for creating hunting display accessories. Its visible grain, warm tones, and natural characteristics lend character to each piece.

The varnished finish enhances the wood's texture while protecting its surface from everyday dirt. It also makes the crest easier to maintain, ensuring it retains its pristine appearance for years to come.

The natural variations in grain and any small knots contribute to the authenticity of this genuine wood product.

Intricate moldings for an elegant finish

The border features decorative raised moldings that harmoniously follow the curves of the shield. This profiling creates several levels of depth and emphasizes the central surface intended to receive the trophy.

The slightly concave upper section and pointed base give the piece a distinctive silhouette. Measuring 230 x 130 mm , this elongated model is particularly well-suited for displaying a variety of roe deer trophies.

A discreet and practical wall mount

The back of the badge features a V-shaped metal bracket , integrated into a vertical groove in the wood. This allows the bracket to be hung on the wall using a fastener suitable for the weight of the assembly.

The front can accommodate a prepared skull or a deer carcass thanks to a suitable mounting system. The escutcheon naturally finds its place in a trophy room , a hunting lodge, or a characterful interior.

It can be displayed individually to highlight a particular harvest or combined with other patches to create a harmonious collection of hunting souvenirs.

FAQ

What is the difference between a 210mm deer escutcheon and a 230mm model?

The 230 x 130 mm model offers 20 mm more height than a 210 x 130 mm shield. Its more elongated profile provides a larger vertical surface for displaying the trophy. The choice depends on the dimensions of the prepared skull and the desired aesthetic balance.

How to fix a deer skull onto an oak plaque?

The skull can be secured with a screw or a specific trophy mount, chosen according to the type of bone preparation. It is advisable to position the skull on the escutcheon before drilling to check its centering and the orientation of the antlers. The mounting must ensure a stable hold without damaging the trophy.

Can an engraved plaque be added to a deer emblem?

Yes, it is possible to add a small nameplate or commemorative plaque to the available surface. It can mention the date of the harvest, the hunting area, or other personal information. A discreet size should be chosen to maintain the visual balance between the trophy and its base.
