A round badge to showcase wild boar trophies

Displaying a trophy is part of the traditions of big game hunting. After preparing the tusks, the choice of display helps to showcase this memento. The Country Round Boar Badge in varnished wood offers a simple decorative base, whose circular shape naturally complements the arrangement of the trophy's elements.

Its flat central surface allows for the composition to take center stage, while the peripheral moldings visually frame the whole. The result maintains a traditional aesthetic, suitable for displaying a boar trophy in a hunting lodge, interior, or space dedicated to hunting memorabilia.

A varnished wood finish and a molded border

The varnished wood retains the warm look of the material and allows its natural grain to show through. The finish highlights the wood's nuances and gives this display accessory a refined appearance.

The border features several concentric moldings that create a transition between the central section and the outer edge. This relief work gives the shield greater depth without diverting attention from the displayed trophy.

Three diameters for different presentations

Available in 160, 180 and 200 mm , this support allows you to select a diameter according to the size of the trophy and the desired aesthetic result.

The 160 mm diameter is ideal for compact displays, while the 180 mm and 200 mm versions offer a larger surface area. This variety makes it easy to create a harmonious wall display when several trophies are exhibited side by side.

A metal bracket for wall display

On the back, a metal fastener attached to the wood allows the emblem to be hung. It fits into a vertical groove cut into the support.

This design allows the entire unit to be hung on the wall while keeping the decorative face completely unobstructed. A practical detail for organizing a collection of hunting trophies and displaying each souvenir on its own stand.

FAQ

How to choose the diameter of a shield for a boar trophy?

The choice depends primarily on the size of the tusks and the desired space around the trophy. A 160 mm diameter allows for a compact presentation. The 180 mm and 200 mm sizes offer more surface area for a more spacious display.

How to care for a varnished wooden hunting badge?

Regular dusting with a soft, dry cloth is usually sufficient to maintain the varnished surface. It is best to avoid abrasive products and prolonged exposure to moisture in order to preserve the appearance of the wood and its finish.

Can multiple trophies be displayed on shields of different diameters?

Yes. The three diameters allow each stand to be adapted to the dimensions of the trophy displayed. The round shape and molded border common to the different versions ensure visual consistency in a wall display.
