A straight trigger made of CNC-machined aluminum

This Maruyama trigger guard features CNC-machined aluminum construction. This process allows for the precise shapes required for integration into the compatible mechanism, while offering a clean and consistent finish.

A straight profile to modify the support point

Unlike a curved trigger, the straight design offers a different contact surface under the finger. This design aims to improve pressure control and trigger feel when using the replica.

A dedicated compatibility for the Maruyama MP-IX GBB

This right-hand trigger for the MP-IX GBB is designed for Maruyama MP-IX series gas blowback airsoft guns. Its specific compatibility allows you to replace the trigger with a component designed for this platform.

FAQ

Is this trigger compatible with other GBB replicas?
