A highly concentrated attractant for wild boar

Cinglavit Vitex is a highly concentrated attractant formulated with synergistic tars and odor enhancers. It can be used alone to create an effective attraction point or to reinforce an already maintained area when its attractiveness diminishes.

Effectively reactivates crude oil and tar

During the summer months, the dry weather gradually diminishes the odor of the powdered tar . Conversely, during the winter, low temperatures reduce the effectiveness of the tar . The addition of Cinglavit immediately restores the olfactory intensity and helps prolong the attractiveness of mud baths and other frequented areas.

Simple and clean application

Each 500g bottle is equipped with a dispensing nozzle for quick and precise application directly onto trees, mud pits, or crud sites. Its size makes it easy to transport during maintenance rounds across the area.

Professional packaging

The product is delivered in a carton of 6 bottles of 500 g , a packaging particularly suitable for managers of hunting territories, municipal associations, hunting societies or resellers wishing to have an easily distributable stock.

FAQ

Can Cinglavit be used alone?

Yes. Cinglavit is a fully-fledged attractant and can be applied directly to areas frequented by wild boars.

What is its purpose in addition to raw or tar?

It helps to reactivate odors when the crude oil loses its effectiveness in dry weather or when tar becomes less attractive during cold periods.

Is the product sold individually?

No. This reference corresponds to a carton of 6 bottles of 500g .
