An official replica of the B&T GL-06

The B&T GL-06 is reproduced under official license from Brügger & Thomet , a Swiss manufacturer renowned for its professional tactical equipment. This airsoft version faithfully replicates the lines and ergonomics of the original model, with authentic markings particularly appreciated by fans of realistic replicas.

Compatible with 40mm airsoft grenades

The launcher accepts airsoft grenades of various lengths in the 40mm format. Once loaded with 6mm BBs and gas-powered, these grenades allow for the simultaneous projection of a large volume of BBs, ideal for CQB scenarios, building advances, or covering fire.

Sturdy metal and polymer construction

The design combines a polymer body with a metal barrel and handguard to achieve an excellent balance between strength and ease of use. In hand, the launcher immediately feels solid without becoming excessively heavy despite its 2.2 kg weight.

Tactical rails and scalable configuration

The four metal accessory rails allow for the mounting of various compatible tactical equipment: lights, grips, optics, or aiming accessories. A removable front grip is also provided to improve stability during rapid maneuvers.

H&K type folding stock

The GL-06 features a folding stock inspired by H&K platforms, facilitating transport and movement in confined spaces. This configuration also improves ergonomics during dynamic shooting.

A platform inspired by professional applications

The original model was developed to meet the needs of law enforcement agencies seeking a compact and accurate platform capable of using 40mm ammunition. This airsoft replica retains that tactical spirit with excellent visual and functional realism.
