A case for two long guns that unfolds into a shooting mat.

The Country Sellerie 160cm padded gun case combines two functions in a single black nylon accessory. When closed, its main compartment measures 155 x 26 cm and can carry two long guns. A longitudinal flap separates the contents, while two hook-and-loop straps keep the equipment in place. When fully opened, the case unfolds to form a mat that insulates the shooter from the ground during shooting. The padding protects the contents during transport and improves comfort in the shooting position. An integrated pocket in the flap holds small accessories or documents, complemented by an external pocket measuring 21 x 25 cm.

A padded sheath for two long guns

The Country Sellerie 160 cm gun case features a spacious main compartment measuring 155 x 26 cm. A longitudinal flap separates the two weapons, while two hook-and-loop straps secure them during transport. The padding protects the equipment from the usual bumps and knocks of shipping.

An integrated shooting mat

Once fully opened, the case unfolds into a padded shooting mat . This configuration creates an insulating surface between the shooter and the ground. The dual function reduces bulk by eliminating the need to carry a separate case and mat.

Storage for accessories and documents

The divider flap includes a pocket for small accessories or administrative documents. A second exterior pocket measuring 21 x 25 cm provides additional storage. Two handles allow for carrying by hand, while the shoulder strap enables carrying over the shoulder.
